

Essential seminar for all brownfield developers Invitation for 24th September 2013

EnGlobe is a world leader in the remediation of contaminated sites through its specialist operating companies in North America and Europe. We provide peace of mind to developers that abnormal risks associated with brownfield sites are dealt with seamlessly even on the most complex and challenging projects. With 400 qualified staff and the treatment of millions of tonnes of contaminated soil annually we are one of the largest specialist contractors in the world working for developers of brownfield land.

We would like to invite you to an open day at our Redhill facility to learn what we can do to help you deliver your projects on budget, compliantly and sustainably.

Learn more about the changes in the oily waste guidance (WM2) being implemented from 1st September 2013 and how this affects your responsibility as a waste producer. Also discover the benefits of using specialist support to manage contaminated land issues at acquisition, planning and delivery stages to ensure lowest overall abnormal cost.
